

Andrew Poulos Jr.

Director, Legal Operations
1199SEIU Benefit and Pension Funds
New York, New York

Andrew Poulos Jr. is the director of legal operations for the 1199SEIU Benefit and Pension Funds in New York. The 1199SEIU Family of Funds is one of the largest labor-management funds in the United States, providing comprehensive self-insured, self-administered healthcare and retirement benefits to more than 450,000 working and retired health care industry workers of 1199SEIU United Healthcare Workers East. The 1199SEIU Family of Funds spends more than $2.5 billion annually on health benefits, and its three pension funds manage $15.5 billion in assets. As director of legal operations, Andrew is responsible for managing the following departments: Fraud & Abuse, Internal Audit & Compliance, Privacy, Appeals, Worker's Compensation/Third Party Liens, and Contract Management. Prior to his role as director of legal operations, Andrew was the assistant director of fraud and abuse, leading a team of investigators responsible for protecting the assets of the 1199SEIU Family of Funds by conducting investigations of suspected fraud, waste, and abuse. Before joining the 1199SEIU Family of Funds, Andrew was a supervising investigator for New Jersey's Medicaid Fraud Division as well as a state and federal law enforcement officer. Overall, Andrew has over 25 years of experience in fraud, waste, and abuse. Andrew obtained his juris master degree from Liberty University School of Law and his bachelor of science degree from Excelsior University.