

Andrew Rivers

Senior Consultant, Health and Performance
HUB International
Toronto, Ontario

Andrew Rivers (He/Him/His) is a Senior Consultant with HUB Health Consulting's Health & Performance team, bringing more than 20 years of experience in insurance, corporate absence and disability management and rehabilitative health across public and private sectors.

He helps organizations assess and strengthen absence and disability strategies, programs, and capabilities to improve employee and business outcomes.

His background includes leadership, client support, executive relationship management, disability case management, rehabilitation consulting, and clinical kinesiology.

Andrew holds a Bachelor's degree in Kinesiology, advanced leadership credentials, and training in workplace mental health, employment standards, and human rights legislation.

A trained leader, coach, and advocate for employee physical and mental health, he has also contributed to industry events and collaborative research focused on workplace mental health, absence management, and disability prevention.