

Aaron J. Walker-Duncan, ICDD

Vice President, Member and Employer Experience
British Columbia Pension Corporation (BCPC)
Victoria, British Columbia

Aaron J. Walker-Duncan is the Vice President, Member and Employer Experience for the British Columbia Pension Corporation (BCPC) in Victoria, British Columbia. He leads the operations teams responsible for serving over 750,000 pension plan members across five pension plans and more than 1,000 employers. Aaron has more than 25 years of experience working in pension and benefits. He has held various roles within the corporation since joining in 2004, including leading teams in areas such as operations, policy, board services and plan communications. Prior to this, Aaron was a benefits consultant with Deloitte in the United Kingdom, where he advised clients on executive pension arrangements, acted as a professional trustee and managed pension issues associated with organizational restructuring. He has a bachelor's degree in business administration from Simon Fraser University and an ICDD designation through the Institute of Corporate Directors. Aaron has completed the advanced pension education program from Humber College, has earned certificates in financial planning, and earned a certificate in Advanced Trust Management Standards (ATMS®) from the International Foundation.